

Bringing fun to life for 40 years...

Interactive family fun with a rapid payback for operators has always been the Pan Amusements way. With over 700 electronic shooting galleries sold in over 40 countries, Pan is the undisputed world leader in this type of attraction.

Browsing through a trade fair in New Orleans, Paul Whittaker, who still runs the company, had his 'eureka moment' when he saw a display of animated characters operated by pneumatic cylinders. Shortly afterwards a Hillbilly gallery was born – created, designed and built by Paul and his team.

From those first galleries, sold to amusement parks and resorts in the UK, the themes have been extended using the latest modelling and animation techniques. Galleries from 3-gun up to 40-gun have brought fun to all ages around the world. Each gallery blessed with the Pan stamp of timeless fun, trouble-free operation and rapid payback.

An amusement that still has massive appeal in theme parks and FEC's now also entertains in retail, food and leisure venues. Pan's knowhow produces galleries for any venue and any budget.

Professor Coggins Compact with impact

This mad professor invents zany fun and crazy profits.

Midi 4-gun gallery

- 4-guns and 14 interactive targets
- 4 water squirting targets and 9 targets with sound
- Redemption available
- Electronic Scoring

Width 7.8ft (2.37m)
Depth 11.2ft (3.4m)
Height 10.8ft (3.3m)
reduces to 9.2ft (2.8m)