

PROJECT X-PHER

In 2131, due to the impact of extreme climate change, humanity was forced to live underground. A century later, scientists created a new energy element "X-Pher" which gave humanity hope to return living on the surface. However, another intelligent life-form came and colonized Mother Earth. They took over X-Pher.

Players would join the elite team of United Nations to fight back the invaders. The elite team would embark on board of tanks, robots, and starship fighters. The extraordinary mission awaits you.

Players will experience combination of motion simulation driving with force-feedback shooting. The deluxe eye candy cabinet which accommodates 2 players will give the gamer an advantage of teaming up with a partner to blow the enemies away!
